MESSAGE FROM OUR PRESIDENT AND CEO

2020 was one of the most challenging years in memory for many of us. The COVID-19 crisis and continued racial inequities in our society weighed heavily on people everywhere, both personally and professionally.

At Kelly, the experiences of 2020 renewed our already strong passion for our purpose of connecting people to work in ways that enrich their lives and reminded us of just how important it is for us to fulfill our purpose in a way that creates positive, lasting change for people and our planet.

Our ongoing sustainability approach at Kelly continues to be closely tied to our purpose—a strategic program clearly focused on positive environmental and social impact within an effectively governed framework based on integrity and ethics.

As a leader and person, I’ve found it helpful to reflect on some of the silver linings from the past year, and our continued progress on our Environmental, Social and Governance (ESG) goals within our sustainability strategy is one of them. I’ll take a moment to share a single highlight from each ESG area:

Environmental (Occupational Health & Safety and Environment): Kelly’s actions during COVID-19 have been guided by a clear set of crisis principles that we developed at the onset of the pandemic. The number one guiding principle is protecting the health and safety of our people, including our employees on assignment and our full-time staff. We quickly transitioned to a remote work environment for employees able to conduct their assignments remotely. And for those of us on the front lines, we adhere to science-based mitigation strategies carefully recommended by our cross-functional Emergency Management Team.

Social (Employees and People; Supply Chain and Customer Relations; Engagement): As a talent company, we believe we can and should do more to champion for those who aren’t given a fair opportunity to secure meaningful work. In 2020, we launched our Equity@Work initiative that sets a course to upend systemic barriers to employment and make the labor market more equitable and accessible. We’re energized by the incredible interest in this platform and will apply sustained, ongoing effort over the long-term to make a meaningful dent in the many long-standing injustices that hold back far too many people from upward mobility—disproportionately people of color.

Governance (Ethics and Business Conduct; Communication and Reporting): Operating with integrity and doing the right thing has been the Kelly way since our founding. Our board of directors, responsible for leading effective governance at Kelly, is inclusive: 44% of the board is comprised of women or ethnically diverse members. And in 2020, each of our board committees—Audit; Compensation & Talent Management; and Corporate Governance and Nominating—became fully independent.

This report provides additional details about what Kelly has accomplished on our sustainability journey thus far. Part of the path toward continual improvement is aligning our initiatives to the principles of the UN Global Compact. We’re pleased to sign and support this collaborative global effort now adopted across nearly 200 countries, and we’re seeing results. Our scores on several external assessments and audits measuring sustainability are sequentially improving each year, and we continue to reach for further progress in the future.

2021 marks Kelly’s 75th year in business, and it’s a year we’re focused on pursuing our strategy as a specialty talent company while advancing diversity, equity and inclusion both within Kelly and in society at large. Thank you for joining us as we grow with purpose.

Peter W. Quigley
President and Chief Executive Officer

Investments

We continue to make investments in technology, particularly those which support greater efficiency in finding talent to answer customer needs. In 2020, we implemented a front office platform in the U.S. and Canada and will be gradually deploying its outreach to other regions. This platform will streamline the processes and workflows associated with recruiting, onboarding, and reassigning workers.

In 2019, in order to improve geographic coverage and operations efficiency, we reorganized the commercial staffing operations that were delivered by our U.S. branch network. The new structure will allow us to reline our focus on specialties within the commercial staffing portfolio, including light industrial, electronic assembly, office professionals, and contact center staffing.

CORPORATE SUSTAINABILITY AT KELLY SERVICES

Message from our Corporate Sustainability Lead
Corporate Sustainability Strategy
Kelly supports the UN Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs)
Stakeholder engagement and materiality
Without a doubt, 2020 represented one of the most challenging and uncertain years humanity has ever faced.

The health crisis wiped out the universal status quo and caused us huge setbacks on economic, environmental, social, and humanitarian issues. In this context, corporate responsibility, integrity, and sustainability were challenged like never before, positioning private companies as a generator of well-being and demanding their solidarity and response capacity in the face of the global pandemic. Additionally, the social unrest caused by increased inequalities, racism and discrimination have made 2020 a year to redesign ourselves more than ever.

In this new reality, maintaining good practices related to our sustainability and corporate social responsibility strategy was an immense challenge for the company and also needed more than ever. It is precisely for that reason, Kelly’s efforts must be valued more than in past years, as they also guarantee our employees, shareholders, stakeholders and community in general, the transparency in our work and the continuity of our commitment to sustainable development, even and despite the global crisis.

In the current context in which post-pandemic reconstruction is at the center of the debate, the role of private companies is essential to recover the path towards a balanced coexistence between the people, resources, and services that we consume.

The good news is that we have solid strategies and guidelines to maintain our commitment to sustainable development and the SDGs. Today, we reaffirm our corporate ethics because we are certain that a new world is not only possible but essential for development and continuity. Through the challenges of the year, we continued to push through and work responsibly and sustainably. 2020 is a year to be proud of Kelly and our efforts.

We invite you to reaffirm and strengthen your commitment to sustainable development, together with us and learn through our 2020 Sustainability Report how we work and thrive.
Corporation Sustainability at Kelly Services

Sustainability is a guiding principle for our operation which drives our relationship with our global workforce, suppliers, and customers.

As a leading global workforce solution provider, our sustainability strategy embodies our mission of connecting people to work opportunities that enrich their lives, making a difference in the communities in which we live and work, and strengthening our relationship with our stakeholders… where together we thrive.

Kelly’s approach to sustainability falls into three main categories: Environmental, Social, and Governance. It is strategically built upon six key pillars that are aligned to the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs). As we continue developing and monitoring our sustainability strategy, we work closely with cross-functional areas to assess our outreach and impact, incorporating an interdisciplinary perspective. We also aim to guide our worldwide subsidiaries and collaborators in planning, managing, and implementing responsible and sustainable business practices for creating meaningful and impactful shared value for all stakeholders.

Given the global outreach of our business, we take public accountability seriously. Our sustainability strategy is supervised by the sustainability governance committee, which is represented by executive leaders and overseen by the Board of Directors.

Since 2018, Kelly has adopted international sustainability reporting standards to communicate performance¹. In early 2019, we adhered to the principles of the United Nations Global Compact to report on our commitment to the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals. Kelly also participates in external assessments such as EcoVadis, CDP, Human Right Campaign Foundation’s Corporate Equality Index (CEI), Responsible Business Alliance (RBA), and ISS Corporate Solutions (ICS). These platforms provide us an opportunity to analyze our performance and identify enhancement opportunities, while providing a consistent and transparent measurement for the impact of our sustainability strategy.

¹ The content of this report is informed by the Global Reporting Initiative Standards (GRI), The Sustainability Accounting Standards Board’s (SASB), and the UN Global Compact.

14 / SUSTAINABILITY REPORT 2020
The United Nations Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) represent the world’s pressing challenges for the planet and its people by 2030. It represents a collaborative global effort, setting 17 global goals and 189 targets to reduce inequality, end poverty, combat climate change, and contribute to a sustainable, peaceful, and thriving future. Despite its adoption by 193 countries as well as significant progress that has been made on reducing poverty in some countries around the world in recent decades, both climate change and the coronavirus pandemic have threatened this progress and have increased the worldwide gaps that the SDGs are intended to address.

Our commitment to contributing to the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals is more relevant than ever. Since 2019, Kelly Services has adhered to the Ten Principles of the Global Compact, and has regularly communicated its progress toward these principles. We are committed to making these principles part of our strategy and business culture. We have also aligned our Corporate Sustainability Strategy to 6 SDGs and have conducted a self-assessment analysis in order to identify opportunities to contribute toward the achievement of these goals. In 2021, we will release our revised Human Rights policy, and freedom of association commitment, and will adopt measurement indicators to assess our contribution toward these goals.
STAKEHOLDER ENGAGEMENT AND MATERIALITY

We continually engage with our stakeholders in order to better understand their concerns, enabling us to deliver a more effective and valuable Corporate Sustainability Strategy. In addition to engaging with our stakeholders through a variety of initiatives and activities directed toward our customers, suppliers, and communities where our offices are located, we conduct a formal materiality assessment every two years in order to identify and prioritize our response to the issues of greatest relevance to both our internal and external stakeholders. We expect to conduct our second materiality assessment in the second semester of 2021.

Key Stakeholders

Kelly leadership and employees
We maintain continuous engagement with our employees through two main channels: Kelly Intranet and Automated Virtual Assistant system. Our company Intranet facilitates the sharing of and access to information, connecting different work teams with employee affinity groups, upcoming events, as well as topics that are trending in the company, and the industry. Our portals include Kelly News; Industry News, and a message from leadership that communicates information from top management to all employees, along with need-to-know messages that provide the latest information on policies, best practices, and initiatives.

Partners and suppliers
Our KellyOCG team works closely with our customers and suppliers to ensure the highest level of business ethics and operational standards across the worldwide Kelly network. Our suppliers are a critical part of our organization who enable the placement of third-party labor for our customers in a variety of specialty services. We strive to guarantee compliance with our Code of Conduct by our suppliers and the promotion of these standards within their supply chains.

Government and regulators
We advocate for public policy issues that are significant to our business and our ability to serve our customers and workforce. We actively monitor new employment as well as labor laws and regulations that are proposed or adopted at the local level which may increase employers’ potential exposure to employment-related claims within our worldwide network.

Community and non-governmental organizations
Kelly has a tradition of giving back and engaging employees in causes that have a social impact which empowers them to be leaders for change within their communities. We have developed local partnerships to provide volunteering opportunities for our employees as well as contributing financially to social causes aligned to the core values of our business.

Shareholders
We engage with our investment community through direct meetings, annual reports, financial statements, and investor conferences.

Industry associations
We engage with industry associations, actively participating in staffing-industry events and meetings in order to exchange information on best practices, raising standards within the industry, identifying trends and opportunities within the industry while advocating for policy issues that are significant to our business.

We deployed our Emergency Management Team to rapidly respond to the COVID-19 pandemic.

Our Absolute Zero program recorded the lowest recordable incident rate in our history.

Scope 3 emissions from employee business travel fell to 682 metric tons of CO$_2$e due to global COVID-19 travel restrictions. This represented a 75% reduction from last year.
Kelly is committed to protecting and maintaining our planet for future generations.

We have a responsibility to properly manage the environmental footprint of our operations, drive energy efficiency across operational offices, and promote internal practices that foster a culture of preservation, conservation, and waste reduction.

Carbon emissions and climate mitigation

Our climate action is focused on reducing the greenhouse gas emissions associated with our operations as well as prioritizing energy efficiency in our Corporate Headquarters; adopting green building procedures in our facilities; and supporting our customers in understanding and adopting their own environmental sustainability goals. Our impact on carbon reduction has been impactful. Over the last 7 years, we reduced our direct environmental footprint by 26%.

We report our environmental impact metrics following the CDP climate change disclosure, regarding measurements of energy usage, GHG emissions of direct and indirect operations, Scope 1 and 2, as well as Scope 3 emissions from air and rail travel of employees.

Scope 1 and 2: Direct and Indirect GHG emissions

In 2020, our GHG emissions in Scope 2 and Scope 3 were reduced significantly due to COVID-19 disruptions that forced employees to work from home and stop business travels.

Our baseline emissions from Direct-Scope 1 GHG from stationary combustion have been estimated at 700 MTCO$_2$e in 2017. Our goal has been to not exceed this baseline target. Still, in 2020, our Scope 1 emissions accounted for 762 MTCO$_2$e.

Our Indirect Scope 2 emissions, associated with energy purchases used to power our offices, have been estimated at a baseline 5,400 MTCO$_2$e in 2017 have decreased to 4,149 MTCO$_2$e during 2020.

In December 2019, we sold our Lindsey and Annex buildings at the headquarters campus, entering into a definitive agreement to sell and lease back our Corporate Headquarters in Troy for the next 15 years. In 2021, we will adjust our greenhouse gas emission targets to our new facilities, including GHG emission metrics for employee commuting, and will co-manage our emission reductions in collaboration with the new facility owner.

Scope 3: GHG emissions from business travel

Our Scope 3 emissions are calculated from business travels made by employees via air and rail in global operations. In 2020, Scope 3 emissions accounted for 682 MTCO$_2$e, which represents a reduction of 75% from 2019. Air travel emissions accounted for 681 MTCO$_2$e and rail emissions 0.591 MTCO$_2$e.

Kelly has implemented the Rocketrip Travel Rewards Program as a corporate benefit initiative for U.S. and Puerto Rico full-time employees, to promote and reward smart business travel decisions. Employees can earn Rocketrip points by choosing less expensive flights, staying with a friend, increasing online meetings, and others. This program is expected to continue guiding employees on making smart choices in travel once they return to business as usual.
Energy efficiency

Kelly measures energy consumption based on the electricity and natural gas used for operations at the corporate campus in Troy, Michigan. Although 2020 energy usage decreased due to COVID-19 restrictions on working from our offices and the selling of two of our corporate buildings, our efforts to operate in more environmentally friendly office spaces have helped us find and adopt energy-efficient green-building solutions.

Since 2013, we have reduced energy consumption in our headquarters campus by 19 percent. This reduction has been partly due to IT services’ transition from on-premise to cloud technology and the adoption of green building standards and technologies that reduce our environmental impact.

!Energy Usage Index (EUI) per Building by Year

We measure our energy efficiency based on the Energy Usage Index (EUI), which measures the energy consumed per building per year, rather than its total dollar cost. This metric takes the different types of energy used by the building per square foot and considers occupant’s habits, building energy efficiency technologies, tightness of the building’s outer surface, and local weather.

Kelly Anywhere: Kelly’s adoption of information technology systems and policies for employees seeking consistent and flexible remote work arrangements have enabled the successful adoption of the Kelly Anywhere program. Although we have not estimated the environmental footprint for working remotely, we estimate that pollution from employee commuting, traffic, and energy usage to power the lighting and other equipment in our corporate campus are significantly reduced with fewer people working every day at the office. Other environmental benefits are related to people using less paper and printing services.

The program has turned out to be extremely beneficial during 2020, as the majority of our workers — previously enrolled or not into the Kelly Anywhere program — have been able to perform nearly all essential functions remotely. As part of our response to COVID-19, we have worked with some customers to implement remote work plans — when possible — for temporary employees.
Water consumption

We only use water in our offices for domestic purposes, landscape irrigation, and operational processes. Although we are not a water-intensive user, we have adopted green building practices to minimize the amount of water usage in our everyday operations by implementing water conservation practices.

- In the HQ offices, we installed smart-sensor and low-flow fixtures in faucets and toilets.
- Outside our campus, we use controlled irrigation systems that reduce water use and have impermeable brick pavers to mitigate stormwater runoff.
- Our external gardens feature grass and plants that consume less water, requiring less irrigation during the summer, and allowing more growth in the spring.
- In 2020, the Shred-it program contributed to saving approximately 438,323 gallons of water. According to Shred-it, each ton of recycled paper reduces water demand by 58 percent, which also reduces air pollution and the need for lumber and other manufacturing resources.

Kelly does not currently track water withdrawals or recycled and reused water in its campus facilities.

Waste management

Kelly provides office-based operations in which waste is mainly generated from the use of paper and other office-related activities. In 2020, we recycled 70.13 tons of materials from our corporate campus and have continued implementing recycling initiatives to reduce our waste impact:

- We have adopted a hardware disposal policy and procedures for the proper disposal of electronic waste (e-waste) throughout our operations. The creation of a recycling center at our corporate campus guarantees the final disposition of electronic equipment, including phones, batteries, cables, PCs, laptops, and other items.
- In partnership with vendors, Kelly has implemented standardized procedures for proper separation and recycling of IT assets and equipment. We also work with our vendor, Staples, to reuse and guarantee the final disposition of toner cartridges from printers and copiers in our office buildings.
- We have implemented responsible procurement guidelines for the acquisition and use of office products made from 100-percent recycled content and environmentally friendly materials.
- In 2020, our corporate campus recycled 125,235 lbs. of waste through the Shred-it program. According to the Shred-it program, this recycling initiative saved 188 cubic yards of landfill space and 250,470 Kilowatts of energy and helped preserve approximately 1,000+ trees, thus helping to balance gas emissions in the atmosphere.

OUR FIRST CARBON NEUTRAL EVENT.

Due to COVID-19 global restrictions on business travels, we decided to conduct our 25th Supplier Awards event virtually, extending the invitation to our global network of suppliers. This virtual event avoided the addition of an estimated 28 tons of CO₂ emissions to the environment. The event received generous donations from our Kelly internal stakeholder and supplier partners for planting over 3,200 trees in Sydney, Australia in support of local reforestation initiatives in the wake of the devastating wildfires of 2020, more than doubling our goal.

We chose One Tree Planted as the organization to support this initiative in the New South Wales area due to the devastation of the wildfires, following our first supplier forum in Sydney in October 2019. We decided to introduce this initiative to our suppliers during the award event. The response was incredible, helping us to surpass our initial goal of planting 1,325 trees as a carbon offset to compensate for carbon emissions from the event.

As a global workforce solutions provider, our human capital is our most important asset. We are committed to the highest standards of safe and healthful working conditions in order to guarantee our employees zero accidents or occupational hazards. Employee safety has been an integral part of our culture and a key to our continued success with our customers and our global workforce.

Employees
Our Absolute Zero program provides a framework for operating under the highest safety standards and proactive initiatives in order to identify, mitigate, and prevent occupational illnesses and injuries at workplaces. The Kelly Safety Team leads this program through internal processes, training, and companywide guidelines that go beyond ensuring compliance with health and safety legislation while monitoring our promise of maintaining excellence in our safety standards, solidifying our commitment to zero accidents, zero injuries, and zero harm. Our safety standards are aligned with the ISO 45001 and OSHA standard.

Across our operations, managers, employees, and customers are accountable and responsible for understanding, leading, and upholding our commitment to our safety standards. Our safety handbook and safety orientation program are critical elements for all new employees. We also conduct regular training to support employees in becoming familiar with customer’s workplace environments, safe work practices, emergency procedures, protective equipment, while reporting safety issues and near misses in a timely fashion to on-site management.

Customers
Our health and safety workplace commitment extends to our customers. Kelly’s Global Safety and Health Program ensures our highest safety standards in customer’s workplaces. It provides pre-assignment risk assessment, worker training, and analysis of incident reports in order to assess customers’ commitment to safety standards. This program provides practical recommendations for determining what conditions may exist in the workplace, which hazards may be encountered, preparing employees to complete their work while following safety and health protections. All customers are assessed prior to servicing and are regularly monitored through our performance evaluation metrics and safety committees. Temporary workers receive general safety guidelines from Kelly and site-specific safety training from our customers.

DART – Days away restricted and transferred rate Incidence per 200,000 work hours

TRIR – Total recordable incidence rate Incidence per 200,000 work hours

The Global Safety and Health Program is aligned with Occupational Health and Safety Assessment (OHSAS 18001) and is analyzed in accordance with two measurements: Total Recordable Incident Rate (TRIR) and Days Away Restricted and Transferred (DART) rate. This program also leads a Health & Safety committee in which our temporary employees actively participate.
Our safety leadership journey in the industry

Kelly has played a leadership role in driving safety across the staffing industry. We actively collaborate with industry peers and government agencies to design and share best practices that provide recommendations to help other staffing firms and their customers ensure a culture of health and safety in their work environments.

- Kelly participated in the development and implementation of Employee Safety Best Practices, by the American Staffing Association — Employee Safety Committee. The guidelines have helped to improve industry’s safety record, analyze impacts on productivity, turnover, and insurance cost.

- Participation in the OSHA Temporary Worker Initiative — We launched this initiative to help staffing agencies and host employers understand and manage OSHA compliance, safety program obligations through specific enforcement and compliance tools.

- Kelly achieved the mark of excellence by the Safety Standard of Excellence Program, provided by the American Staffing Association and National Security Council to encourage staffing companies to adopt safety best practices and measure continuous improvement.

- Kelly adopted a COVID-19 response and risk mitigation plan, including a pandemic planning and business continuity plan, to ensure the health and safety of our employees, temporary workforce, and support our customers on best practices and information during the outbreak.
Our response to COVID-19

Since the Coronavirus outbreak was first reported in December 2019, Kelly has been carefully monitoring the situation through its risk management and crisis response team. Our industry and its valuable temporary workers have been actively serving health care, science, technology, and education organizations on the front lines of fighting the Coronavirus.

We have implemented a specific business continuity plan for preparing and responding to pandemics. This plan includes infectious control measures, communication, education, and other operational procedures for all our global networks, following guidelines and recommendations from the World Health Organization (WHO), the U.S Center for Disease Control (CDC), and the European Center for Disease Prevention and Control.

The Emergency Management Team has been developed as a cross-functional group responsible for coordinating crisis management for the organization, including containment measures, policies, procedures, communications, and resources for employees and customers during the COVID-19 crisis. The health and safety of our employees and workers have been a priority in our plan response. We have implemented protocols to avoid the unnecessary risk of transmission while providing information and responsive actions, helping employees and employers with best practices for balancing work and personal lives, promoting wellness, and connecting people with work opportunities during this unprecedented time.

Resources for employees and employers to stay #InThisTogether

Kelly is committed to supporting the health and resilience of our employees, communities, and customers during this time. We launched a dedicated page on our website to stay connected with our workers and collaborators while providing updated information and responsive actions for balancing their work and personal lives during the crisis. The Kelly Cares Hotline (855-Kelly-06) was launched to connect more rapidly with employees and help them find out what’s next.

With a keen focus on personal well-being, Kelly made training available through the Kelly Learning Center (KLC) on topics such as health and safety, wellness, stress, anxiety management, and remote work readiness. We also made counseling sessions available to our employees and created a follow-up plan for those directly impacted by the pandemic.

To ensure the health and safety of all our members, we also worked with our health care providers to offer special medical plans and benefits during the outbreak, waiving the financial costs of COVID-19 treatment and telemedicine services, as well as providing free testing and facilitating access to prescription medications, thus guaranteeing that patients do not experience shortages or difficulties when receiving these services.
KELLY COVID-19 RESPONSE

Large Events
Large events and conferences have been cancelled to minimize the risks of transmission. We continue to emphasize the use of technology to communicate to large audiences.

Headquarters and Facilities
Kelly is screening all non-essential visitors to our headquarters and facilities. Staff have been provided with additional sanitizing materials and additional cleaning staff have been added to clean high-touch areas at our headquarters.

Social Distancing
As suggested by the World Health Organization (WHO) and U.S. Center for Disease Control (CDC), Kelly is urging all personnel to use technology to manage meetings virtually wherever possible. To avoid unnecessary risk of transmission, employees are instructed not to engage in traditional practices such as handshakes.

Inquiry Management
Internal resources have been tasked with managing all questions and providing guidance to our internal employees, including those working with customer specific requirements in managing our temporary workforce.

Ongoing Monitoring
Kelly’s Emergency Management team is continuing to monitor the latest changes to WHO and CDC guidance. We also are monitoring best practices across our customer base to ensure our employees are not subject to unnecessary risks of exposure.

Talent attraction, retention, and compensation

At Kelly, our deep sense of purpose compels us to connect people with work in ways that enrich their lives. We are driven by our commitment to guaranteeing non-discriminatory practices while providing equal employment opportunities to those of varying backgrounds, talents, and ideas. We aim to attract all qualified applicants and to ensure that our workforce enjoys opportunities to advance in their careers, irrespective of their race, color, sex, age, religion, national origin, sexual orientation, disability, veteran status, other categories.

We adopt a Global Compensation Philosophy, where our policies guarantee equitable compensation practices that endorse a pay-for-performance culture to all employees. Kelly’s total rewards framework is designed to attract and retain talent while providing comprehensive incentives and career advancement opportunities. The program recognizes key talent, which considers roles and responsibilities, employee performance, skills, experience, and qualifications, and applying fair and equitable pay practices by analyzing market-competitive and equitable compensation, budget and financial performance of business segments, external benchmarking, geographical location, and internal equity.

Kelly’s pay-for-performance guidelines extend to the Executive Compensation team. The fully independent Compensation Committee designs and administers the Company’s executive compensation programs and incentives in order to drive key business objectives and stockholder value. The Committee also considers evolving best practices, corporate governance trends, and annual reviews to determine the compensation of each of our senior and executive officers.

Career development opportunities and training

Talent is at the core of our business. We are committed to providing meaningful career opportunities, resources, and skills that the global workforce needs to thrive in a competitive and digitalized world. Our career development and training initiatives play a significant role in shaping, reskilling, and developing skills for a diverse workforce that effectively responds to industry trends and future labor demands, regardless of which industry or client we are serving.

The Kelly Learning Center (KLC) offers an ongoing free-learning platform that provides online training through virtual instructor-led courses, web-based training, and videos/seminars for all employees. The KLC also offers a career development program where employees can access a development management tool to design career goals, skills-related training, and a framework for exchanging feedback. This program is evaluated annually by managers and their team members to help prepare the skills and select programs that best support their interests and individual career objectives.

In 2020, the KLC was a useful platform to connect with our employees and offer wellness programs to better manage work and life balance while working remotely.

Supporting our employees to achieve their goals

Kelly is on a continuous journey to engage and better understand our customers, employees, and candidates in order to deliver an exceptional experience that creates loyalty and anticipates labor talent needs. To remain at the forefront of what drives people and our clients to engage with Kelly, and in order to attract the best available talent, we take seriously the notion of getting to know our talent beyond the résumé.

In 2019, we launched the following initiatives that support the KLC and provide opportunities for employees to envision and measure performance on their career development plan while preparing them for what is next.

- The Growth Zone initiative supports employees in their career development conversations in order to better track and measure performance, identify employee skills and training opportunities, as well as provide objectives for a career planning model.
- TalentX provides a talent research program that understands expectations during the sourcing, recruitment, and placement process, in order to efficiently and responsibly adjust our internal procedures during the job search and placement process. The program has reimaged our approach to candidate engagement and providing virtual assistance through our dedicated Talent Care Advisors team.
- Kelly’s Wellness Program was launched as a pilot initiative to support and better engage a growing number of professionals working remotely within our culture, building deeper connections between employees, providing a people-first leadership approach focusing on areas that support work-life balance.

Future of work

Kelly actively partners with customers and external stakeholders to identify the critical resources that are needed in order to meet the expectations of present and future labor demands. Through ongoing research and market engagement related to the future of work, we aim to become a better place to assign the talent we engage, while supporting our customers in becoming even better customers to Kelly.

Considering a broad-based consumer perspective, we have analyzed “How will changing consumer trends affect the world of work?” In the last couple of years, we have found that the workforce blends their personal lives into their workspaces, which has several implications on where and how work gets done. This is particularly relevant in 2020, where the coronavirus pandemic has accelerated this transition and has increased expectations on how people and work connect. For example, workers have come to expect employers to deploy all the flexible, personalized, and collaborative behaviors of their favorite brands and services.

Kelly has developed platforms and programs to offer consistent and flexible work arrangements for our employees while working online, and not necessarily being present at the workspace. Currently, all our employees are working remotely through our Kelly Anywhere program as part of our strategy to reduce the spread of COVID-19 and keep our employees safe. Our KellyConnect® program has a strong learning culture which supports our internal career advancement philosophy, providing virtual leadership development training to support HiPo (high potential) employees and leaders at all levels of their career advancement. In 2020, this program trained 200+ new leaders, all promoted internally, reaching over 480 team leaders in the program. Additionally, we collaboratively work with our customers to push organizations to think differently about workers’ increasingly mobile and fluid lives, and how to better leverage their existing infrastructure and investments as part of their overall talent and business strategy.
Equity@Work

We’re in a unique position in the labor market, representing talented people looking for work and connecting companies to the workforce they need. When we connect people to work, we change their lives. We have a longstanding history of being innovative and creative when it comes to making people–work connections.

Through Equity@Work, we’re tapping into our talent-first mentality, and we’re turning that creativity and innovation toward addressing systemically unjust and outdated barriers that prevent people from having access to meaningful work. We aspire to create more opportunities for more people because we believe work shouldn’t improve some lives, but the lives of all people who want to work.

Standing in the Gap

“I was working for a liquor distributor, so part of my job was to go out and entertain customers. I got my first DWI in 2007 and being part of the legal system — to be honest, I didn’t know how to handle that. Depression starts to set in, and things get a little bit dark, and that’s what led to another trip to the court and another DWI.

Right after I started my probation, I got a call from a recruiter. I took calls for a little less than a year and then I moved to a supervisor role. When there was a formal application to be a corporate employee with Kelly, my boss let me know that because of my background I wouldn’t move forward into being a corporate employee — even though she believed in me and she was proud of the work that I had done with my team.

My boss continued supporting and encouraged me to continue applying. I was ready for another no, but then I got a phone call and she said “Congratulations, you are a corporate employee.” Now I oversee 750 people; it’s a big responsibility, but it is also one of my greatest pleasures because I have seen people walk the same journey that I have had.”

David’s boss challenged Kelly’s previous criminal history practices and advocated for David’s opportunity to advance.

“Equity@Work sets the course for changes to Kelly’s hiring practices such as removing salary and criminal history from our internal employment applications. We are also calling on like-minded leaders and organizations to join forces in addressing workforce barriers.”

— PETER QUIGLEY, PRESIDENT AND CEO, KELLY SERVICES
Equity@Work is our effort to shed a spotlight on and fight against these unjust barriers that prevent so many people from finding meaningful work.

As a company, we have already begun addressing barriers by changing our practices and have set ambitious targets for Kelly’s own full-time employee hiring practices. We have also joined forces with institutions, policy groups, and companies to address regulatory injustices and outdated biases, opening doors to greater equity and bridging opportunities to millions of people experiencing barriers towards new pathways to upward mobility. These efforts include the following initiatives listed to the right.

- We’re refocusing our internal recruitment efforts around experience and skills, instead of degree credentials.
- We’re engaged with the Detroit Regional Talent Compact, working with community, business, and academic leaders to improve the region’s access to post-high-school educational credentials and reduce equity gaps.
- Through our Kelly Certification Institute apprenticeship program, we are working with local community colleges and customers to connect committed workers to higher paying positions through learning an employer’s highest-demand skillsets.

- We removed criminal history from our internal employment application.
- We’re continuing our efforts around individualized criminal background assessments, opening more opportunities to those who deserve a second chance, because we realize that blanket bans on criminal history don’t work. These efforts have been implemented internally and will be extended to likeminded clients as well.

- We’re using technology across our job posting language to facilitate equitable and inclusive terminology.
- We formed a global Inclusion Council and Kelly Affinity Groups for Black, LatinX, LGBTQ, women, and millennial employees.
- Peter Quigley signed the CEO Action for Diversity & Inclusion™ pledge, confirming our commitment to advance diversity and inclusion in the workplace.
- We joined several local organizations to back the LGBTQ civil rights initiative in Michigan, aimed at amending the state’s anti-discrimination law.

Inclusion and diversity
Kelly embraces diversity and strives to provide an inclusive culture that ensures equitable opportunities for all our employees and the global workforce, who reflect the diverse regions, industries, and customers we serve worldwide. As a global workforce provider, inclusion and diversity are cornerstones of our operation and a big part of our success.

Our commitment is to provide a diverse and inclusive work environment where everyone feels welcome, respected, and valued. This commitment began in 1979 and has evolved to become part of Kelly’s business strategy, investing and prioritizing initiatives that promote talent and address the unique needs of the disabled, minority groups, women entrepreneurs, military members and their families, young people, and the semi-retired.

We are humbled to be recognized with an outstanding top score by the Human Rights Campaign Foundation, in the Corporate Equality Index 2021 — a national benchmarking survey of corporate policies and practices relating to LGBTQ workplace equality. However, we know that there is much to be done to fight for equity at work while creating workplaces that reflect society and talent representation across our communities. For this reason, in 2020 we developed our I&D strategy and launched the Equity@Work initiative to concentrate our efforts on guaranteeing a diverse talent pool, working together to overcome barriers to employment, using a strategy of increasing the diversity of our suppliers while strengthening our culture of inclusion.

Increase the diversity in the talent pool and hiring process
We have implemented a multidimensional global strategy across suppliers, employees, and our workplace, to create and maximize opportunities for underrepresented workforces in emerging and mature markets. Our I&D strategy has allowed us to recognize opportunities for hiring a wide range of diverse employees. We have implemented internal policies and procedures to neutralize gender tone, remove unconscious bias from job postings, as well as using talent outreach communications to increase the diversity of our talent pool.

"Our recent acquisition of Greenwood/Asher & Associates, a premier specialty education executive search firm, is a great fit for the Kelly family. Delivering an inclusive culture

Kelly continuously works to increase the diversity and representation across our communities, including lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, and queer (LGBTQ); military veterans; ethnic and racial groups; gender; and people with disabilities. We aim to guarantee an inclusive network and offer specialized programs to promote talent and address the unique needs and capabilities of our entire workforce.

Kelly Disabilities Network

We strive to increase job opportunities for people and communities living with disabilities, where they can contribute their unique skills to our company or our customers. We partnered with nonprofit and professional networking associations to better understand their unique challenges, providing resources to match their needs while creating meaningful job opportunities.

Kelly also complies with the U.S. Americans with Disabilities Act and similar regulations to ensure equal opportunities and accessibility for workers with accommodation requirements. In 2020, roughly 9 percent of our KellyConnect advisor population were receiving an ADA accommodation.

Compass program: Kelly Services + Best Buddies

Since 2019, Kelly has partnered with Best Buddies International to provide employment consultants who support Kelly’s team and customers, so as to be able to engage and work better with Best Buddies participants living with Intellectual and Developmental Disabilities (IDD). Best Buddies is also part of our Equity@Work initiative.

The Jobs program uses current job descriptions and matches skills requirements with participants with an IDD. It also provides an opportunity to connect with an in-house employee, who will coach and accompany them during their first several months on the job. In the long-term, this program will provide best practices that strengthen our social inclusion initiatives while increasing the participation of other companies nationwide.

Up to this day Kelly has hired three Best Buddies Jobs participants at the HQ office in Troy, MI, two of whom were able to remain employed throughout COVID and were able to work at home with support of their Best Buddies Employment Consultant. In 2020 a Kelly employee participated in the MI Champion of the Year Gala and helped to grow the Best Buddies program throughout the state. Kelly participates in the Best Buddies Citizens program where there are four matches between Kelly employees and adults with IDD in the community. Kelly also participates in the Best Buddies E-Buddies program and there were 22 pairs matched across the U.S. in 2020, who communicate via email. We have engaged leadership in CA, IN, and FL and plan to continue expansion of the partnership across the U.S. in 2021.

Finding Myself at Work.

“I wish I had help in middle school and high school, but I didn’t really know until a few years ago that I actually had autism. My skills and abilities are a lot different; it takes longer for me to process things.

For the job interview I did with Kelly, they allowed me to have my job coach from Best Buddies, so it was a little bit easier to do the interview because I had someone with me. I am actually enjoying the job. “Thank you, Best Buddies, for helping me find a job and helping me find myself.”

Since 2019, Kelly has partnered with Best Buddies International to provide employment consultants who support Kelly’s team and customers, so as to be able to engage and work better with Best Buddies participants living with Intellectual and Developmental Disabilities (IDD). Best Buddies is also part of our Equity@Work initiative.
Kelly Veteran Employment and Transition Services

We have deployed an in-house recruiting program that aligns military experience and traits from U.S veterans, current reservists, and military spouses, with job opportunities. In 2020, we hired 4,700+ veterans and military spouses to work for premier Kelly clients, or as internal employees.

Our Government Solutions team, which is primarily made up of veterans, dedicates most of its time to recruiting services for veterans and military spouses, both with and without security clearance.

The U.S Military Pipeline program allows candidates who are veterans to create profiles and search for job opportunities using a cloud-based solution that matches employment opportunities from our customer database. This program feeds into the Hero2Hired program, expanding jobs and careers for veterans who have fulfilled their military duties.

Laura Snowden served from 2002-07 in the U.S Army in the Artillery Field at Fort Bragg, North Carolina. She joined Kelly 10 years later as a senior recruiter; now she serves as an account manager for P&I South Operations.

Todd Maloney’s military career spanned 21 years, having served in the U.S Air Force until retirement in 2016. He currently works as operations manager for the Mazda Toyota Manufacturing U.S RPO account within KellyOCG.

“Each year, every program faces challenges—whether it’s to generate growth, recruiter workload, being consultative, or just continuing to up our game with fresh initiatives and ideas. But we always rise to the occasion and meet those challenges. We are resilient!”

Leadership in Action (LIA) program

Since its establishment in 1946, Kelly has made a significant commitment to promote, recruit, and retain women entering the workforce, while providing them opportunities to balance personal commitments outside of the workplace.

Currently, the LIA program aims to prepare and develop Kelly’s current and future leaders, ensuring an environment for personal and professional success and growth, where leaders can thrive and deliver strong business results. In 2020, the LIA program had 1,005 participants, (622 females and 383 males).
Kelly Affinity Groups

As part of our Inclusion and Diversity strategy, we aim to empower our communities and ensure that everyone at Kelly feels welcome, heard, and included as part of our company. In 2020, we launched five Affinity Groups as a foundation for meaningful and sustainable initiatives that involve all employees at every level and provide professional development, networking, and mentoring opportunities.

Our Affinity Groups support the development of an inclusive community and culture at Kelly while promoting an open and honest conversation that supports underrepresented communities and challenges them to make the impact we expect.

I&D is a critical component of our culture. We are on a journey to understand and celebrate the uniqueness that everyone brings to the table while building a more cohesive culture across every level of the company and in every employee.

In 2020 we launched five Affinity Groups as a foundation for meaningful and sustainable initiatives that involve all employees at every level and provide professional development, networking, and mentoring opportunities.

Every day we leverage hundreds of diverse staffing organizations worldwide, both as partners and as subcontractors, to support achieving our customers’ various diversity initiatives. Our I&D strategy expands to our global supplier network and their workforce, providing resources and opportunities for growing their revenue and spurring economic development.

The Kelly Supplier Diversity Development Team has developed a multidimensional approach to support the I&D practices with our suppliers while developing a diverse supplier base that can compete and enhance their business opportunities in servicing our supply chain and sourcing strategy.

Human rights

Kelly has a global commitment to protecting its employees and candidates against any human trafficking and will not partner with any organizations that condone or have practiced human trafficking or have violated human rights of any kind.

Our Human Trafficking and Slavery Policy Statement specifically includes a zero-tolerance policy against any form of human trafficking or related activities, including any form of unlawful employee harassment, retaliation, forced or compulsory labor, sex trafficking, child labor, or any type of debt peonage. This policy applies to all Kelly employees, subcontractors, vendors, suppliers, or other entities doing business with Kelly worldwide. We also are committed to the UK Modern Slavery Transparency Act Statement and have developed internal policies and guidelines in our Code of Business Conduct and Ethics to guarantee fair labor practices and address any issue that can affect the basic rights of our employees and workforce.

Our global responsibility includes our suppliers who must comply with our Supplier Code of Conduct, which sets out expectations and best practices that guarantee compliance with labor and safety law and regulations, fair hiring practices, addressing modern forced labor, discrimination, and other critical violations of labor rights.

Forced or compulsory labor

Kelly works with approximately 7100 employees with whom it has an “at-will” employment relationship. Our talent supply chain spans 51 countries (with the ability to support Kelly MSP programs in 8 additional countries) across six continents, in which we have worked together with our partners and suppliers to guarantee fair labor practices and compliance with working standards that are attached to our Supplier Code of Conduct. These help to identify, prevent, and address any issues related to forced labor.

Child labor

Our Code of Business Conduct and Ethics and the Supplier Code of Conduct state our business practices, as well as for our partners and suppliers, to comply with all applicable child labor laws, including those relating to minimum age limits, limitations of working hours, and the prohibition against certain types of work. Kelly understands that opportunities may arise for the placement of minors under the age of 18 and has therefore implemented a policy to ensure its compliance with federal labor law and OSHA regulations. This policy is extended to all countries of operation and respects all internationally proclaimed human rights.

In the U.S., Kelly complies with laws in all 50 states, including the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico, as well as federal laws regarding the employment of minors. Kelly thoroughly vets its placement of minors and does not permit them to be placed in certain high-risk jobs, including manufacturing and warehouse positions.

Freedom of association

Kelly believes that employees are best served through a collaborative work environment with direct communication between employees and their Kelly representative. Our policies encourage employees to work directly with their Kelly representative to problem-solve potential disputes, and we strive to promote a positive work environment, establish favorable employment conditions, support employee development, and to facilitate direct employee communications. All employees shall be free to join or to refrain from joining, trade unions or similar external representative organizations. Kelly respects the rights of all employees to engage in protected activities, including those of freedom of association and collective bargaining. Employees may engage in activities without fear of intimidation or reprisal, in accordance with applicable law. Kelly also believes that partners and suppliers should recognize the right of freedom of association, consistent with applicable law.
Our supply chain
Connecting talent to the world of work

The ability to manage staffing suppliers has become more critical as customers seek one single supplier to manage all of their demand for contingent talent. Kelly’s total talent management (TTM) approach seeks to address this requirement for our larger customers, enabling us to deliver talent wherever and whenever they need it across the globe. Our talent supply chain offers Managed Service Provider (MSP) programs, but also supports our temporary staffing solutions, Recruitment Process Outsourcing (RPO/Perm) solutions, and Business and Professional Services (BPS) solutions.

Supplier engagement and performance management

To support the management of our supplier network, we have invested significantly in the development of our Supplier Strategy & Engagement organization, a dedicated team of Supplier Strategists and Supplier Engagement Managers. This team is globally focused, but regionally structured — which means they are able to provide strategic consultation while maintaining a close proximity to local markets to retain knowledge of legal and cultural specifics, speed to talent, escalation points, etc.

Supplier risk management

Our suppliers are a critical part of our ecosystem which enables the placement of third-party work labor for our customers in a variety of specialty services focused on finance and accounting, engineering, IT, and science. We work with suppliers who share our values and commit to operating following our Supplier Code of Conduct guidelines. Adherence to this agreement is mandatory and must be renewed before the assignment of any new task through a client.

The Kelly Supply Chain Enablement Team regularly assesses suppliers’ contractual and worker compliance with consideration given to client-directed suppliers. The team conducts regular audits on worker compliance and communicates any findings to the client program during the worker onboarding process. It also monitors and communicates contractual non-compliance through the internal supplier breach report process, which can lead to adjournment or termination from the Kelly program.

We have implemented a supplier performance management process to guide and initiate suppliers into our Kelly program. This process also analyzes and monitors suppliers’ and partners’ compliance with all topics covered in our Supplier Code of Conduct. Measures their performance, and identifies hotspots where improvement is needed, allowing for the implementation of corrective plans to sustain improvements.

Supplier risk management program

Kelly works closely with partners and suppliers to guarantee that their business ethics and operations standards are as rigorous as our own. In 2020, we implemented a supplier management program to identify high-risk suppliers in the Kelly or to the client and analyze their resiliency in driving risk mitigation plans more effectively. The program follows a risk assessment methodology that evaluates its strategic importance and considers performance management, compliance with breach reports, and assessment scores.

This program is part of our Responsible Supplier Management ecosystem model, created to mitigate risk and generate value for the company and to our Kelly network by:

- Identifying risks utilizing a holistic approach including Environmental, Social, and Governance issues (ESG).
- Providing a framework for standardized processes and procedures that facilitates monitoring and assessment of continuous performance and innovation.
- Enhancing collaboration with suppliers in alignment with standardized governance processes and management.
- Improving our ability to respond to client requests regarding supplier audits and increase responsible supply chain management practices.
SUPPLIER ENGAGEMENT AND INSIGHTS COVID-19

In 2020, our team led several projects with our supplier network to gather insights into the impact of the pandemic on their business, talent, and enterprise strategies. These insights continue to bring value to our client conversations, programs, and overall supplier management strategies. In this process, we received proactive participation of 600+ suppliers from more than 20 countries around the world, 49 percent of them represented a diverse supplier group.

Supplier Code of Conduct

Throughout our supply chain, we strive to set our expectations and replicate the general guidelines that must be ensured in the business operations of our partners and suppliers. Kelly requires workforce suppliers to abide by socially responsible business practices enumerated in the Supplier Code of Conduct regarding ethical and professional conduct; employee and working conditions; freedom of association; human rights; and environmental sustainability. We hold our suppliers to the same high level of accountability to which we hold ourselves.

In accordance with the U.K Modern Slavery Act, Kelly has developed a Human Rights policy and has outlined internal procedures to ensure that our global operations are free of any type of slavery.

The ethical business conduct of our suppliers and partners is an integral part of our purchasing and partnering decisions. At Kelly, we constantly analyze supplier performance and work closely with our partners and suppliers to encourage them to go beyond compliance and implement best practices to positively impact the lives of workers and communities where they work and live. Our Supplier Code of Conduct is available publicly to all stakeholders. It adheres to the professional code of conduct outlined by the World Employment Confederation, the Responsible Business Alliance (formerly known and the Electronic Industry Citizenship Coalition Code of Conduct), and the ten principles of the Global Compact of the UN.

The Kelly Supplier Code of Conduct addresses the following areas:
Social impact partners
Kelly maintains active community and professional affiliation with national and local organizations that serve diverse populations. In 2020, we established partnerships to provide intern/externship programs with Detroit Promise, NPower, and Per Scholars. These local organizations provide education, training, and employment networking opportunities to underserved communities to support our efforts for workforce inclusion and diversity. Other organizations we have contributed to either financially, through volunteer hours, or in-kind include:

InvestVets is a community-based organization that aims to improve employment outcomes for those who have served in our nation’s Armed Forces and their families in Michigan by eliminating cultural barriers and empowering veterans. InvestVets connects employers with veteran and military talent by offering activities that reduce the high expectations and stress that are common with traditional job fairs. In 2020 Kelly Services attended two job fairs, presented a company overview, and provided a list of open opportunities.

On My Own of Michigan is a member-centered nonprofit that provides support to adults with mild developmental disabilities such as autism, Down Syndrome, and other cognitive impairments, as they build and maintain lives of independence. In 2020 we continued our partnership by facilitating a virtual workshop that focused on resume building, interviewing, and job skills. In addition to workshops, participants have access to local recruiters for follow-up and access to potential opportunities.

In 2020, we contributed approximately $59,000 USD to social development initiatives, and our employees contributed more than 4,700 volunteer hours to social impact initiatives.
HAVEN Oakland County’s only comprehensive program for victims of domestic violence and sexual assault, HAVEN provides shelter, counseling, advocacy, and educational programming to nearly 30,000 people each year. In addition, Kelly volunteers provide career preparation services to help HAVEN clients boost their confidence and achieve financial independence. We expect to resume the Career Readiness Seminar in 2021, where Kelly volunteers provide career preparation services to help HAVEN clients boost their confidence and achieve financial independence.

Let’s Detroit Initiative Let’s Detroit is a strategy of the Detroit Regional Chamber, as part of its Detroit Drives Degrees initiative. Detroit Drives Degrees’ goal is to increase the region’s postsecondary attainment rate to 60 percent and to reduce the equity gap by half, by 2030. Let’s Detroit was launched to help achieve these goals and drive relationship-building, regional collaboration, social mobility, and equity across Southeast Michigan.

Oakland Community College Foundation The Student Success Fund provides immediate financial assistance to help currently enrolled students, attending one of the five OCC campuses, through emergency situations that are impeding their ability to continue their education. Emergency situations involve circumstances that are beyond the student’s control, such as an accident, loss of income, illness, or unanticipated educational expenses. Students must have exhausted all other sources of funding before applying for this program.

Life Remodeled Life Remodeled exists to bridge people across divides to help transform each other’s lives. With substantial investments of cash, labor, and materials, Life Remodeled focuses on the intentional and equitable revitalization of Detroit neighborhoods. Projects are determined by the community’s needs and vision. In 2020, 50 Kelly volunteers contributed more than 200 volunteer hours towards the Life Remodeled Six Day Project.

Troy Community Foundation The Troy Community Foundation provides a simple one-stop place for charitable individuals and businesses to support the entire City of Troy. They serve the community by creating unique partnerships that connect individual, family, and business donors with the full spectrum of charitable organizations and causes.
We aim to empower our employees to contribute their time and talent to support local social impact cases focused on three main areas:

- Diversity and inclusion
- Talent, skills, and training for labor
- Vulnerable communities and workforce reinsertion

In 2020, 605 Kelly U.S. volunteers provided more than 4,700 hours dedicated to community development processes and social initiatives focusing on:

- Socioeconomic needs of communities: Reducing poverty levels and covering basic needs, especially with respect to education, workforce readiness training, and access to work opportunities.
- Cooperative projects with alliance, network, and partnership organizations: Working in conjunction with other established organizations extends the value of our community outreach initiatives and broadens their impact and results.
- Medium — and long-term sustainable initiatives: Favoring medium — and longer-term initiatives with broad impact, while avoiding isolated philanthropic activities such as donations and sponsorships not aligned with the corporate strategy of the business.

Kelly Engage is our volunteering program where employees actively participate in multiple initiatives to support local communities.
Virtual volunteering — Developing KIDS

Considering the challenges for conducting a volunteer event with social distancing as “the new normal” and many still facing shelter-in-place, two of our volunteers got a bit creative by sharing their expertise with young people in vulnerable communities to help them advance in their professional development. Kelly volunteers recorded a short video from their remote locations and shared best practices to support job search, social media do’s and don’ts, and interview must-have skills. The video was shared on our social media sites and Developing KIDS channels.

Global efforts to make a difference even during the Coronavirus pandemic

- Our team in Italy developed an e-learning course concerning how to deal with working from home. The training supported our remote workforce to balance work and personal life during the Coronavirus pandemic. The program focused on ensuring employee physical and psychological health, paying attention to possible risks, and providing suggestions on setting up the workstation and managing flexible times while supporting employees’ health and well-being. Additionally, the program provided training skills for leadership, management, communication, and a proactive approach to the job when working from home.

- Kelly Mexico volunteers participated and donated more than 8,300 USD in diverse social impact initiatives for people affected by the coronavirus pandemic. Efforts included donations to local hospitals, donations of IT equipment to children in homeschooling, lunch boxes, and personal medical equipment for healthcare workers.

- For the 9th consecutive year, our Kelly Portugal team partnered with AMI and launched a social media/mailing campaign named “Saco Solidário — sacos que enchem corações” — Bags that fill hearts! This campaign was created nationwide and consisted of raising food and hygiene items among employees, customers, and company partners, in the scope of the Fight Against Poverty in Portugal. Due to the pandemic in 2020, the campaign was online, where clients and employees could donate directly on the AMI webpage that was created together with Kelly specifically for this campaign.

Life Remodeled

In 2020, fifty Kelly employees rolled up their sleeves (and donned their masks) to beautify the city block surrounding the Durfee Innovation Society, a hub for academic enrichment, workforce development, and entrepreneurship opportunities for youth and adults.

“This year more than ever it is important to bring communities together.”
— Mike Berich, Vice President, KellyOCG

“For me personally, the most rewarding part was when the neighbor of the house I was working on approached me and expressed his gratitude for what we were doing. The positive and emotional feedback from him, and all of the beeping and thumbs up from the residents that drove by, is the reason I will be back next year.”
— Merissa Boone, first-year participant, and Centralized Screening supervisor
Business continuity and risk management

Like most businesses worldwide, we are confronting serious challenges raised by the COVID-19 Pandemic for our company, employees, and business partners. Our Disaster Recovery Risk Management Program played a significant role in rolling out a rapid response to the Coronavirus, where the experienced crisis team at Kelly worked around the clock to assess and act decisively to support the health and safety of our employees and global workforce, as well as providing our partners and clients with recommendations for an effective responsive plan.

Since the Coronavirus outbreak was first reported in December 2019, Kelly used state-of-the-art technology solutions to track and monitor the crisis globally. We also established the Emergency Management Team, a cross-functional and experienced crisis management group that has supported decision-making and has provided resources for employees and clients.

As part of our response, we implemented specific guidelines and policies for preparing and responding to pandemics in our Emergency Operations Resource Plan. This plan includes infection control measures, communication, education, and other operational procedures for all our global networks following guidelines and recommendations from the World Health Organization (WHO), the U.S Center for Disease Control (CDC), and the European Center for Disease Prevention and Control.

Kelly's adoption of information technology systems and policies that enable remote work were extremely beneficial during this time. Kelly workers have been able to perform nearly all essential functions remotely. Our Kelly Anywhere platform and integrated information systems allowed us to guarantee continuity of major operations by moving our employees to remote work in less than 24 hours. We also supported our customers in implementing remote work plans for temporary employees — when possible.

We know the importance of maintaining consistent, updated, and transparent information with our employees and customers, especially during this time of uncertainty. Our executives and responsive team members have been actively engaged through various channels to maintain communications with employees, customers, and suppliers during this event. We also implemented a page on our website and launched the Kelly Cares Hotline (855-Kelly-06) to stay informed and more rapidly connect with employees.

Kelly crisis response program:

Our priority is to protect the health and safety of our workforce and their families when there is an unplanned business interruption resulting from natural disasters, power outages, fires, civil unrest, and other natural or man-made disasters that could affect the viability of our company and jeopardize the interests of our shareholders and customers.

RISK MANAGEMENT

Kelly’s Board of Directors and its Audit committee oversee our risk-management framework and the Enterprise Risk Management (ERM) program. Our risk-mitigation strategy considers policies, procedures, and monitoring mechanisms to identify critical risk, facilitate the establishment of our corporate risk appetite and tolerance statement, and integration of risk concepts within the company’s strategic planning process. Current areas of particular emphasis include cybersecurity, data privacy, wage-hour risk management, and improvements to the Company’s compliance governance and incident reporting practices. More information about the committee and risk management can be found in our 2020 Annual Report.
Kelly utilizes a variety of scalable solutions and strategies to both ensure the health and safety of employees and their families, and to enable us to resume services after experiencing any type of disruption. Business continuity planning is incorporated into Kelly’s business continuity planning and response is incorporated into Kelly’s overall business strategy. The key components of the program include:

Board composition and committees:
In October 2019, Peter Quigley became Kelly’s new President and CEO and joined our Board of Directors. Kelly’s Board is made up of nine members of diverse backgrounds, all of whom bring a high level of integrity and ethics to the table and are known for their character, judgment, business experience and expertise, objectivity, and independence of thought.
Code of Business Conduct and Ethics

With a global outreach in more than 50 countries worldwide, nothing is more important for us than to operate legally and ethically and to guarantee trusted relationships with our employees, partners, and customers. The Board of Directors has adopted a Code of Business Conduct and Ethics, applicable to directors and all employees at all levels, at all employment locations. Kelly employees are responsible for conducting themselves according to the Company’s business integrity guidelines and ensuring that our suppliers, agents, and representatives know their obligations to do the same.

The Code is intended to guide employees and collaborators in identifying and resolving ethical issues properly, deterring wrongdoing, providing mechanisms to report dishonest or unethical conduct anonymously, and conducting investigations promptly. All global policies and procedures within the Code are revised and updated annually and measured against best-in-class performers and their business requirements, helping to foster a culture of honesty and accountability. A third party independently manages our integrity hotline where employees are able to report concerns anonymously.

All our business integrity policies and procedures extend to guiding our relationship with our global network of suppliers, which is one of our company’s strongest competitive advantages and one of our greatest responsibilities. We have also developed a Supplier Code of Conduct that covers all standards our supplier must meet as it relates to ethical business practices, employees and people, human rights, and environmental impact. Suppliers must adhere to the Code of Conduct and recommit to it before taking on a newly assigned task.

KELLY’S CODE OF BUSINESS CONDUCT AND ETHICS ADDRESSES AREAS SUCH AS:

- Conflicts of Interest: Such conflicts may occur when a Kelly employee’s private interest interferes with or appears to interfere in any way with, the interests of the company. Employees are responsible for avoiding such conflicts and communicating any such situation promptly.

- Anti-Bribery/Anti-Corruption: All Kelly employees are subject to anti-bribery/anti-corruption policies and have an obligation to comply with the U.S. Foreign Corrupt Practices Act (FCPA), as well as to all other country-specific anti-bribery and anti-corruption laws.

- Other policies are related to insider trading; confidentiality and privacy; external communications; protection and proper use of assets; fair dealing; contract management; risk tolerance; political contributions.

Employees may not give, promise, or offer anything — no matter how small in value — to any customer, government employee, or another person for the purpose of improperly influencing a decision, securing an advantage, avoiding a disadvantage, or obtaining or retaining business. Each employee is required to annually certify compliance with the principles outlined in the code, as well as participating in FCPA and anti-bribery/anti-corruption training each year, to ensure understanding of all internal policies and procedures to address any wrongdoing and guarantee our reputational image.
Privacy and data protection

Data protection and data privacy are especially relevant for employment companies such as Kelly, who are entrusted with the sensitive personal data of our candidates, employees, customers, and suppliers. With the increased use of technology and global outreach of our business we take seriously our responsibility to ensure the proper collection, use, and security of this personal data.

We make sure that all of our employees are provided with the tools and information necessary to understand their responsibility in handling personal data through the use of our Data Privacy Resource Center. This repository of information presents our Data Privacy principles and data incident reporting platform as well as documents, resources, and on-going training on privacy and security awareness.

Additionally, all employees at Kelly are proactively made aware of this commitment and have completed mandatory training on GDPR and Privacy and Security Awareness. Privacy and data protection procedures and standards are also communicated in our Code of Business Conduct and Supplier Code of Conduct, and compliance is mandatory for our global members and suppliers.

Additional Training:
- Cybersecurity awareness training on working remotely
- IT Security: Privacy, Data Security, Email and Phishing
- Returning to Workplace Safely

In 2020, data protection stakeholders have continued their ongoing efforts to strengthen Kelly’s protection around personal data with updates to our Information Security Policies to ensure the highest information security standards across our network. Kelly has also adopted international standard procedures to ensure ongoing compliance with the European Union’s General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR), California’s Consumer Privacy Rights Act, and all other data privacy laws and regulations in the countries where we do business. Privacy and data protection matters are managed and overseen directly by the Enterprise Risk, and Information Technology groups, who provide regular quarterly updates to the Audit Committee concerning the proactive approach to cybersecurity, and changes in the regulatory environment, that may impose additional compliance requirements related to the collection, use, processing, disclosure, transfer, and retention of personal information.

Kelly has also implemented processes to manage vendor risk and evaluate data protections at third parties who may process confidential data on Kelly’s behalf. These risk management controls include but are not limited: architecture reviews, SSAE audits and review of vendor SOC1 and SOC2 Type II reports for critical and SOX vendors, ongoing monitoring and reporting of vendor security by an independent third party, vulnerability assessments conducted internally and annually by an external third party, data protection impact assessment, annual enterprise risk assessment, incident response and notification procedures, and Data Protection Agreements including standard contractual clauses (SCCs) for privacy compliance.
COMMUNICATION AND REPORTING

Internal communications
We are committed to maintaining internal and external communications with our stakeholders on a continuing basis, providing effective communication channels where employees and collaborators can engage with our commitments and goals. Kelly uses two main internal communication channels: our Kelly intranet (KellyWeb) and the Automated Virtual Assistant (chatbot) system. The KellyWeb provides an easy means of sharing and accessing important policies and operational initiatives.

Other internal communication channels include Kelly News; Leadership Messages to communicate information from the top management level to all employees; and Need to Know messages, which inform employees about important policies and operational initiatives.

External communications—sustainability standards
Kelly’s external communication channels help us monitor and inform our external audiences, including customers and clients, about our performance. We have adopted international sustainability standards such as GRI, SASB, and UNGC to ensure consistency, accountability, and transparency of our annual goals and impact. We also participate in external assessments such as EcoVadis, CDP, Human Right Campaign Foundation’s Corporate Equality Index (CEI), Responsible Business Alliance (RBA), and ISS Corporate Solutions (ICS) which measures our sustainability performance and provides recommendations on our strategy implementation.

- EcoVadis’ assessment has helped us to align our sustainability initiatives and strategies with the expectations of our customers, in order to report results accurately. Our 2020 EcoVadis score places our company in the “Silver” category of suppliers; we have been recognized in the top six percent and 91st percentile of companies in our industry assessed on environment, labor and human rights, ethics, and sustainable procurement.

- RBA — Responsible Business Alliance. In 2020 we conducted our internal self-assessment following the RBA guidelines, with a low-risk score.

- CDP — We participate in the CDP climate — questionnaire, which evaluates Fortune 500 companies on their greenhouse gas emissions. Kelly is proud that its environmental performance ranks well above the industry average.

- Global Reporting Initiative (GRI) Standard — Since 2018, we have adopted the GRI-Standard methodology as a standard to communicate and understand our sustainability performance and strategy on critical issues such as climate change, human rights, governance, and social well-being.
  - Growing with purpose, Sustainability Report 2019
  - Growing with purpose, Sustainability Report 2018

- UN Global Compact — In 2019, Kelly became a member of the UN Global Compact, which supports the alignment of our Corporate Sustainability Strategy to the 10 principle-based approaches of good business practices of the UN. This signifies operating in responsible ways, meeting human rights, labor, environmental, and anti-corruption principles.

- SASB — Sustainability Accounting Standards Board. In 2020, we adopted the SASB framework to report on material sustainability metrics that apply to our operational industry and are relevant to investors: The Professional Commercial Services Standards. We expect to continue disclosing our ESG commitments using SASB in future reports.

- NASDAQ 2020 Annual Report — As a public company, we are committed to full compliance with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission’s Regulation Fair Disclosure. We file this information annually, which may be accessed by the public at sec.gov. This report contains information and statements regarding public business financial reports and operational strategy.

Transparency and integrity line
We have established an integrity line for employees and customers who may encounter what is believed to be a potential violation of our Business Code of Conduct or a violation of local laws or regulations. Inquiries and reports on unethical behavior follow a confidential process and can be reported to Kelly Business Conduct and Ethics Reporting Program at 1-877-978-0049 or https://www.integrityhelpline.com/kellyservices.jsp. Kelly prohibits and will not tolerate any type of retaliation against any individual who reports in good faith any concerns about violations of our values and principles. We will conduct an investigation promptly and fairly to ensure anonymity and then take appropriate action.

Considering our global operations, this report’s scope focuses on our internal operations in the U.S., extending to our supply chain and business partners, who support our operations worldwide. All data has been collected by the Sustainability team in collaboration with other operational areas of the organization. The data has been revised, with estimations clearly denominated. Any assumptions in the description have been specified in the content or index section.

Kelly Corporate Sustainability Report 2020 is informed by the following frameworks:

² Base year calculation: 2017
³ GHG Scope 1 emission in base year: 700 CO₂e
⁴ Carbon footprint (CO₂e) measurement is based upon stationary combustion from natural gas (Scope 1) and electricity consumption (Scope 2) from the local grid in company-owned facilities located in Troy, Michigan. All other worldwide facilities are excluded. The measurement followed the US-EPA methodology. The analysis does not categorize the type of gases.
⁵ The average number of employees in HQ 2020: 1,272.
⁶ Energy management is analyzed considering energy efficiency through the Energy Usage Index (EUI) per building per year in BTU.
⁷ Waste is generated from office-based operations. Waste diverted from final disposition to landfills corresponds to internal procedures to recycle paper-use, office-related activities, and e-waste programs.
